MAJOR UNITS AND ORGANIZATIONS:

THE 101ST AIRBORNE DIVISION (AIR ASSAULT)

2700 Indiana Ave.
Staff Duty Office
270-798-9793

The 101st Airborne Division (Air Assault), the only air assault division in the world, is comprised of units with storied pasts, whose histories span from untold fabled feats during World War II—including the first Allied Soldiers to set foot onto German-occupied France and the first invasive force to enter Japan in over 2000 years—to vital victories during the most recent conflicts in the Middle Eastern region, and innumerable, indispensable actions against our enemies, along with purposeful, peaceful engagements alongside our allies, all over the world in between.

Activated August 16, 1942, at Camp Claiborne, Louisiana, the 101st Airborne Division was born into the throes of WWII, and since its inception, the division has continually developed its air mobility combat operations. The 101st is recognized for its unmatched air assault capability, is revered for its ability to execute any combat or contingency mission anywhere in the world, and is often called upon to fulfill its next “rendezvous with destiny.”

The oldest unit of the modern 1st Brigade Combat Team was first comprised of elements that had existed since 1917 and was activated in 1942 as a charter member of the division as 1st Brigade, 327th Infantry Glider Regiment, 101st Airborne Division. The unit participated in several definitive campaigns of World War II and was then inactivated in 1945. After various reactivations and redesignations, the 1st Brigade, 327th Airborne Infantry Regiment became the first unit from the 101st Airborne Division to deploy to Vietnam in 1964, participated in of 40 combat missions, and redeployed with the division in 1972. The 327th participated in Operation Desert Storm in 1991 and concluded the century with numerous peacekeeping missions around the world.

Since 2003, the 1st Brigade Combat Team has conducted multiple deployments across the Middle East in support of the many operations across the region. During 2016 and 2017 the 1st BCT deployed to Africa to assist U.S. partners in building ready forces, strengthening our partnerships on the continent within the countries of Cameroon, Niger, Malawi, South Africa, Ghana, Gabon, Djibouti, Somalia, Uganda, Senegal, and Rwanda. The Bastogne Brigade’s long and decorated history serves as a reminder of the countless Bastogne Soldiers who have given their lives in defense of democracy and freedom around the world. More recently, in 2019 elements of 1st BCT deployed to Iraq and Syria in support of the Combined Joint Task Force-Operation Inherent Resolve mission.

The 502nd distinguished itself during many significant battles during World War II. In 1967, the unit deployed to Vietnam and participated in 12 major campaigns. The 502nd participated in Operation Desert conclusion of WWII, the 187th was selected to spearhead the occupation of Japan, momentarily becoming the first force of opposition to enter Japan in more than 2,000 years.

Shield and Operation Desert storm in the early 1990's, and returned to Iraq in 2003 in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom.

In 1950, the recently reorganized and redesignated 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team deployed to Korea, where its successes convinced the Pentagon to reactivate the XVIII Airborne Corps at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. The 187th was reconfigured as the 3rd Brigade of the 101st Airborne Division in 1964, and in 1967, the 3rd Brigade reported for duty in the Republic of Vietnam, conducting innumerable

Originally formed as the 176th Field Artillery Brigade in 1921, the 101st Airborne Division Artillery (DIVARTY) has served as a part of the 101st Airborne Division since the division’s activation in 1942. The 101st DIVARTY participated in numerous campaigns during World War I, and it was the DIVARTY commander and acting division commander, Brig. Gen. Anthony McAuliffe, who refused the German demand for surrender at Bastogne with his now legendary answer—“Nuts!”

Following inactivation in 1945, 101st DIVARTY was reactivated in 1965. Deployed in support of combat operations in the Republic of Vietnam from 1965 through 1971, the division artillery participated in 12 campaigns in Vietnam. Since 2003, DIVARTY has deployed many times in support of the division’s multiple operations across the Middle Eastern region, reliably coordinating, synchronizing, and integrating fires for the division. In 2018, 101st DIVARTY deployed headquarters elements and radar to Bagram Airfield, Afghanistan in support of Operations Resolute Support and Freedom’s Sentinel.

The 101st Airborne Division Sustainment Brigade was activated July 1, 1956, at Fort Campbell as the 101st Airborne Division Support Group, with the mission of providing supply support, field maintenance, medical support, and a host of miscellaneous services for all of the division’s assigned and attached elements. In 1966, the Sustainment Brigade deployed to South Vietnam to provide the division with critical support during 12 of the conflict’s 17 campaigns. In 1990, the Lifeliners deployed in support of Operation Desert Storm, performing the critical task of establishing a helicopter rearm and refuel point. In 2001, Lifeliners deployed to Afghanistan in support of Operation Enduring Freedom, and the brigade has since deployed numerous times to the Middle East in support of the Global War on Terrorism’s many campaigns—most recently, Lifeliners deployed to Kuwait in 2019 in support of Operation Spartan Shield and Operation Inherent Resolve, providing uninterrupted transportation of supplies and equipment throughout Kuwait in support of U.S. forces.

In 2014, three battalions of the 101st Sustainment Brigade provided logistical support to the U.S. Agency for International Development-led comprehensive U.S. government response to the Ebola pandemic in West Africa, known as Operation United Assistance. More recently, in 2020, Lifeliners deployed to the northeastern United States, in New York and Boston, to provide logistical and medical support to the COVID-19 pandemic response.

The 101st Aviation Brigade was initially constituted as the 4th Aviation Section (Light) on Dec. 7, 1950, under the Eighth U.S. Army Korea. The unit saw several activations and deactivations over the next several years. In 1968, the brigade was constituted as the 160th Aviation Group while serving in Vietnam. In 1969, the 160th was redesignated as the 101st Aviation Group. With air mobility added to the capabilities of the 101st Airborne Division, the helicopter became the Screaming Eagles’ primary mode of transportation to the battlefield. In 1986, the 101st Aviation Group was redesignated as the Aviation Brigade, 101st Airborne Division (Air Assault).

In 1990, the Aviation Brigade deployed to Saudi Arabia following Iraq’s invasion of Kuwait. During the ensuing years, the brigade deployed forces to Somalia, Kuwait, Bosnia, Kosovo, and Honduras to defend democracy and assist in recovery from natural disasters. In 1997, the 101st Aviation Brigade split nine battalions into two brigades: the 101st Aviation Brigade (Attack) and the 159th Aviation Brigade (Assault).

In 2002, the 101st Aviation Brigade deployed to Afghanistan in support of Operation Enduring Freedom, and since then, it has provided full-spectrum aviation support to coalition forces during every major operation in the Middle Eastern region. Recently, the 101st CAB deployed to Afghanistan in 2018, providing aviation support to the entire Combined Joint Operational Area-Afghanistan in support of the NATO-led Resolute Support mission and U.S. Forces-Afghanistan. Most recently, in 2020, elements of the 101st CAB conducted a rotational deployment to South Korea, while other elements of the brigade deployed to Europe to participate in Atlantic Resolve in support of the United States’ NATO allies and partners. The 101st Combat Aviation Brigade is continually at

160TH SPECIAL OPERATIONS AVIATION REGIMENT (AIRBORNE) “NIGHT STALKERS”

7277 Night Stalker Way
 Staff Duty Office
 270-798-1605

The Army owes its modern night-fighting aviation capabilities to the 160th Special Operations Aviation Regiment (Airborne), which pioneered night flight techniques. In 1981, Task Force 160 was formed from attachments of the 101st Airborne Division and was then officially recognized as a unit, designated as the 160th Aviation Battalion. Upon its inception, these Soldiers immediately entered into a period of intensive night flying — quickly becoming the Army's premier night-fighting aviation force and the Army's only special operations aviation force.

In 1983, the 160th was first called to action in Grenada, and since 1986, when the unit was redesignated as the 160th Aviation Special Operations Group (Airborne), the unit has responded to numerous missions at the requests of presidents of the United States and secretaries of defense. The 160th organization continually adapts to meet the nation's special operations aviation requirements, enabling successful execution of national foreign policy and deterring enemy aggression. The 160th Special Operations Aviation Regiment (Airborne) remains ready to defeat any threat.

6106 Tennessee Ave.
Staff Duty Office
270-798-5836

The 5th Special Forces Group (Airborne) draws its lineage from the 1st Special Service Force, a combined Canadian-American regiment activated in July 1942. During WWII, the unit fought in the Italian Campaign and in southern France before being inactivated in 1945. In 1960, the 5th Special Forces Group (SFG) was constituted in the Regular Army as 5th Special Forces Group (Airborne), 1st Special Forces, and activated at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, in 1961.

In 1962, the 5th SFG began serving tours of duty in South Vietnam, and by 1965, all of the group were deployed and dispersed to 270 locations throughout South Vietnam. Although the 5th SFG officially returned to Fort Bragg in 1971, members of the group continued to conduct intelligence operations in Southeast Asia until 1975. On June 16, 1988, the 5th group colors, adorned with 27 Vietnam campaign streamers, were uncased at Fort Campbell, Kentucky.

In 1990, the 5th Special Forces Group deployed for Operation Desert Shield and Operation Desert Storm, conducting foreign internal defense, special reconnaissance, direct action, and combat search and rescue missions in support of every allied contingent among the coalition. In October 2001, the 5th SFG was one of the first American units deployed to Afghanistan for Operation Enduring Freedom, and since then, the group has conducted a full array of Special Forces missions across the CENTCOM area of responsibility, while also providing training and support to our partners around the globe.

The 52nd Ordnance Group is the command and control headquarters for all Army explosive ordnance disposal (EOD) companies and battalions located in the eastern half of the United States. Constituted Dec. 20, 1943, as Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, the 52nd Ordnance Group, the 52nd Ordnance Group went through many inactivations, reactivations, and redesignations, including inactivation while in Vietnam in 1967. Following its reactivation in 1993 at Fort Gillem, Georgia, the group relocated to Fort Campbell in June 2009.

After the onset of the Global War on Terrorism, the 52nd Ordnance Group (EOD) conducted myriad deployments in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom and Operation Enduring Freedom, while providing force protection and training to United States forces and our allies worldwide. Most recently in 2018 and 2019, elements of the 52nd Ordnance Group (EOD) conducted multiple deployments across all U.S. Central Command areas, including Iraq, Afghanistan, and Syria, in support of Operation Inherent Resolve, Operation Freedom's Sentinel and Operation Spartan Shield, providing force-protection response against everything from improvised explosive devices to chemical, biological, radiological, nuclear hazards.

THE SABALASKI AIR ASSAULT SCHOOL

6883 Air Assault St.
Staff Duty Office
270-798-4410

The original "Air Mobile Badge" was developed by Brig. Gen. Harry W. O. Kinnard and first issued in 1964. In order to qualify for this badge, each Soldier had to successfully rappel from a helicopter, three times from 60 feet and twice from 120 feet. Each Soldier had to pass aircraft safety procedures, aircraft orientation, hand and arm signals, combat assault operations, prepare, inspect and rig equipment for a sling load, and be able to secure equipment carried in cargo helicopters.

On Feb. 1, 1974, Maj. Gen. Sidney B. Berry established what is now known as the Air Assault School. The training requirements were based off the original "Air Mobile Badge." At the time, the school was five days long, and at its completion, Soldiers were awarded the Air Mobile Badge. The Air Mobile Badge was later renamed the Air Assault Badge, which followed in the tradition of the Glider and Airborne Badges that were worn proudly by the 101st Division Soldiers.

In 1994, the Air Assault School was renamed in honor of retired Command Sgt. Maj. Walter J. Sabalaski. Since it was established, the school has graduated more than 200,000 U.S. and foreign military personnel. The school is designed to train Soldiers in all facets of air assault operations unique to the world's only Air Assault Division.

The Sabalaski Air Assault School is also responsible for the Pathfinder Course, Rappel Master Course, FRIES/SPIES Master Course and the Division Pre-Ranger Course.

Soldiers must meet all requirements listed on the Fort Campbell Form 4137 prior to arrival. Off post and TDY students can check the school's webpage on Fort Campbell's public website, www.campbell.army.mil, or call directly for further information.

Special Education

Special Education Services are available for children ages 3 to 21 years who are identified as having an educational disability or developmental delay. To receive these services, a child must be assessed by a multidisciplinary team, which will include special educators and the child's parents. This team is known as the Case Study Committee (CSC).

Related services, such as speech and language services, occupational therapy services, or physical therapy services are also available based on individual needs as determined by the CSC.

After eligibility for special education is affirmed by the CSC, an Individual Educational Program (IEP) is developed by the team. This document includes goals and objectives appropriate for the child to learn. At this time, service providers will also set both learning objectives and the required weekly time commitment; both will be included in the IEP document.

Special education locations are individually determined by the CSC. This decision is made based upon the nature and severity of the child's educational needs. For more information about special education services or if you suspect your child may have a disability or delay, contact the assigned school.

INTEGRATED DISABILITY EVALUATION SYSTEM
5980 Desert Storm Ave.
270-461-1563/4768/4320

The Department of Defense and Veterans Affairs worked together to make disability evaluation seamless, simple, fast and fair with the Integrated Disability Evaluation System (IDES). DOD uses the IDES to determine a service member's fitness for duty. If the service member is found medically unfit for duty, the IDES gives them a proposed VA disability rating before they leave the service. The proposed rating informs the service member of the approximate amount of compensation and benefits they will receive from the VA. Through the IDES process, Physical Evaluation Board Liaison Officers (PEBLOs) guide service members through the entire IDES process to ensure they are aware of their options and the many decisions they – or their families – need to make. VA Military Service Coordinators (MSCs) help service members file their VA benefits claim before they leave the service so they can get their benefits as soon as possible after they separate from service.

To make the system fast and fair, there are options available and appeal processes which a service member can choose, to get decisions reviewed along the way. PEBLOs and MSCs guide service members through the entire IDES process to ensure they are counseled on their options. The services will also provide legal counsel at no cost to the service member.

The Women's Health Clinic provides classes on Breastfeeding, Childbirth Preparation, Infant Care and Daddy Boot Camp. For wellness classes, please see our current schedule.

For these wellness classes, please see our current schedules. We also offer Centering™ in pregnancy; more information is given during the OB orientation appointment.

For non-emergent pregnancy-related issues at any time, please use TOL Secure Messaging at www.TOLsecuremessaging.com to request an appointment. This is the preferred method and you will receive a quick response. If you contact us by phone (270-798-8151) for non-emergent issues, please leave a name and a good phone number for us to call back. It may take up to three business days to respond. We highly recommended patients to sign up for TOL Secure Messaging as a proficient way to communicate with your BACH team.

Gynecological services are a referral-based specialty clinic. After evaluation by a primary care manager, patients may be referred for GYN care for issues that include but not limited to cervical dysplasia; abnormal bleeding, pelvic pain, ovarian cysts, or infertility. Well woman visits do not require a consult and patients may self-refer for an appointment. For non-emergent issues that are not pregnancy related, please contact your primary care provider.

Access To Care

All new OB patients may self-refer to the Women's Health Clinic. You do not need to see your primary care provider for a referral. A repeat pregnancy test is not necessary once your home pregnancy test is positive. When self-referring to the clinic, you will need to fill-out paperwork and we will assist you in scheduling your OB orientation and first physical appointments. This process will take an average of 10 to 15 minutes.

Labor and Delivery Unit BACH Building A, Second Floor 270-798-8090

The Labor and Delivery team is committed to providing comprehensive family-centered care to all active duty Soldiers and their TRICARE eligible family members. The team's goal is to partner with the patient and family to ensure a safe birth in the manner most suitable to the needs of the patient and baby. We encourage skin-to-skin contact with your baby immediately after delivery and to remain together while you are on Labor and Delivery. This will give both of you a great start to breastfeeding success, bonding, and caring for your newborn. All your Labor and Delivery nurses are trained to help you get the best start for this new and exciting journey.

All guests and visitors must sign in at the front desk and all siblings under 12 years of age must be accompanied by an adult. For the safety of our patients, guests with cold or flu-like symptoms should delay visiting the newborn at this time.

Telephone consultation and triage is available 24/7. For any emergent/urgent pregnancy related issues for 20 weeks and above, please call or go to the Labor and Delivery unit. For non-emergent pregnancy-related issues, please contact the Women's Health Clinic either by Army Secure Messaging System at any time or by phone during clinic business hours. Please refer to the Women's Health Clinic (OB/GYN) section for further information.

Lactation Services BACH Building A, Third Floor in Women's Health/OBGYN, 270-798-8151, Option 1

Reasons to see a consultant before you deliver: You want to learn as much as you can about breastfeeding; if you had breastfeeding or lactation difficulty in the past; expecting more than one baby or a baby who may be sick or early; you have a history of breast surgery and wonder if it will affect your breastfeeding; you think your breasts or nipples look odd to you or are very different from each other; or you worry that something about your health might make it hard to breastfeed.

Reasons to see a lactation consultant after you deliver: If you are concerned about your baby's weight; you have questions and concerns about how your infant is acting during or after feeding; you feel you may have too much or too little milk; your provider or your baby's provider sends you for help or you or your baby is hospitalized during the time you are a nursing couple.

A lactation consultant can help you identify the cause of a problem affecting breastfeeding for milk production; make suggestions about how to correct a problem; work with you to decide on a plan of care; suggest supplies or tools you can use to improve your breastfeeding experience (some supplies are provided during consultations if the lactation consultant confirms there is a need); provide you with written education and/or instructions; share information about other breastfeeding support and resources in the community; and provide follow-up consultations as needed.

Breastfeeding Classes and Peer Support at BACH

Third Trimester Breastfeeding Class: Covers position and latch techniques, how to assess for milk transfer from mother to infant, how human milk production occurs and reviews common breastfeeding concerns.

The MOM and ME Group: A place and time breastfeeding mothers can gather together with their breastfeeding infant and develop relationships with other breastfeeding mothers in the community. This is a place to share information and experiences with other mothers. An International Board Certified Lactation Consultant will be present during this group session to offer support, address questions and recommend follow-up if needed. An infant scale is available for use by the mothers.

Pump Programs

TRICARE covers breast pumps and breast pump supplies at no cost for new mothers, including mothers who adopt an infant and plan to breastfeed. You must have a prescription from a TRICARE-authorized physician, physician assistant, nurse practitioner, or nurse midwife. The prescription will state which type of breast pump you need:

- Hospital-grade breast pump
- Manual breast pump
- Standard electric breast pump

If you paid out-of-pocket, you can send a claim for reimbursement with a copy of your prescription and itemized receipt. Learn more at www.tricare.mil/breastpumps.

Mother Baby Unit BACH Building A, Second Floor 270-798-8090

The Mother-Baby Unit is located near the Labor, Delivery and Recovery Unit to provide patient and family-centered maternity and newborn care with minimum disruption and separation following birth. The unit has a Level I Special Care Nursery to provide advanced care for infants requiring further post-delivery transition needs. Healthy infants who do not require advanced care will share their mothers' room during their post-partum period. The mother and family are welcome to invite adults and siblings to the room. Siblings under 12 years old must be accompanied by an adult other than the patient. For the safety of the baby, guests with cold or flu-like symptoms are encouraged not to visit the unit. It is recommended that no one other than the deemed support person stay overnight due to space limitations and the comfort of other patients receiving care.

An Exceptional Family Member (EFM) is a family member (child or adult) with any physical, emotional, developmental or intellectual disability that requires special treatment, therapy, education, training or counseling.

The following Soldiers with EFMs must enroll in the program: active Army, U.S. Army Reserve (USAR) Soldiers in the USAR-Active Guard Reserve program and Army National Guard (ARNG) personnel. Enrollment allows assignment managers at Department of the Army Human Resource Command (HRC) personnel agencies to consider the documented medical and special education needs of the EFM in the assignment process. All family members applying to accompanying a Soldier to an overseas assignment are required to be screened through the EFMP to ensure any special considerations are identified prior to relocation. When possible, Soldiers are assigned to an area where their EFM's medical and special education needs can be met. This decision will depend on a valid personnel requirement for the Soldier's grade, specialty and eligibility for the tour. All Soldiers are still eligible for worldwide assignment.

All motor vehicle operators should familiarize themselves with Army Regulation 190-5, CAM Regulation 190-5, and the laws pertaining to the states of Kentucky and Tennessee. Law enforcement has been tremendously effective in deterring Soldiers, family members, and guests of Fort Campbell from unsafe driving behaviors that risk the lives of everyone living and working within the community.

All violators are subject to legal, disciplinary, and administrative action.

EAP also provides training for employees, managers, and supervisors for the prevention and intervention of/in poor job performance, absenteeism, and workplace incidents that could result in accidents or injury.

Suicide Prevention
270-412-0080

Leaders at all levels have the responsibility to protect their Soldiers on and off the battlefield. This includes recognizing uncharacteristic and suicidal behaviors. Effective suicide prevention requires everyone in the unit to be aware of the risk factors for suicide and know how to respond. If a Soldier seems suicidal, the time to take action is now. Distress can lead to the development of unhealthy behaviors. People closest to the Soldier (fellow Soldiers, family, and friends) are in the best position to recognize changes due to stress or depression and to provide support.

LOOK FOR:

- Comments that suggest thoughts or plans of suicide.
- Relationship problems (loss of girlfriend or boyfriend, divorce).
- Uncharacteristic behaviors (e.g., reckless driving, excessive drinking, stealing).
- Significant change in work performance or attitude.
- Depressed mood, hopelessness.
- Withdrawal from social activities.

WHAT TO DO

In any situation, if a Soldier threatens suicide, take it seriously. You may have very limited time and only one chance to intervene.

Remember the acronym “ACE”

- Ask: Ask the question directly: “Are you thinking of killing yourself?”
- Care: Remain calm and actively listen to produce relief.
- Escort: Never leave your buddy alone. Get him or her to the chain of command, to a chaplain, or to the emergency room.

<https://campbell.armymwr.com/us/campbell/programs/exceptionalfamily-member-program>

The Fort Campbell ACS Exceptional Family Member Program (EFMP) serves approximately 2,300 individuals with special needs. EFMP is a mandatory enrollment program that works in partnership with various military and civilian agencies to provide comprehensive and coordinated community support, housing, educational and medical support, and personnel services to families with special needs. An Exceptional Family Member (EFM) is a family member (child or adult) with any physical, emotional, developmental, or intellectual disability that requires special treatment, therapy, education, training, or counseling.

The following Soldiers with EFMs must enroll in the program: active Army, U.S. Army Reserve (USAR) Soldiers in the USAR-Active Guard Reserve program, and ARNG personnel.

Enrollment allows assignment managers at Department of the Army Human Resources Command (HRC) to consider the documented medical and special education needs of the EFM in the assignment process. When possible, Soldiers are assigned to an area where their EFM's medical and special education needs can be met. This decision will depend on a valid personnel requirement for the Soldier's grade, specialty, and eligibility for the tour. All Soldiers are still eligible for worldwide assignment.

The EFMP also conducts a variety of recreational and cultural events during the year.

OUT AND ABOUT

DON F. PRATT MEMORIAL MUSEUM

5702 Tennessee Ave.

Gift Shop: 931-431-2003

Hours: 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday. Closed Thanksgiving, Christmas, New Year's Day, and other federal holidays. Admission is free.

Memorabilia from Brig. Gen. Don F. Pratt, along with some of the personal possessions of Gens. William C. Lee, Maxwell D. Taylor, Anthony C. McAuliffe, and William C. Westmoreland, are among the featured exhibits.

Other exhibits include a restored CG-4A cargo glider that carried glider-borne Soldiers into combat during World War II, as well as uniforms and equipment of the American Soldier and his enemies from the European and Pacific theaters of WWII, the Korean War, the Vietnam War, Operation Desert Storm, and the global war on terrorism.

There are also captured personal items of Adolf Hitler, Herman Goering, and other high-ranking Nazi officials. Although the main museum theme focuses on the history of the 101st Airborne Division, there are also displays that address early developments in airborne warfare and Camp Campbell as an Armor Training Center in WWII.

Included in the displays are the following units: the 11th Airborne Division, the 12th Armored Division, the 14th Armored Division, the 20th Armored Division, the 26th Infantry Division, the 173rd Airborne Brigade, the 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team, the 5th Special Forces Group (Airborne) and the 160th Special Operations Aviation Regiment (Airborne).

An outdoor park across the street from the museum displays military aircraft and equipment used by or captured by the division. The centerpiece of the park is the "Brass Hat" — a C-47 aircraft resembling the plane used to carry the division commander, Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, into Holland during Operation Market Garden in World War II.

The museum's primary mission is to train Soldiers; to that end, a reference library and archives are available for Soldiers and units. Both guided and unguided tours (reservations required for guided tours), daily historical films, a gift shop, gallery talks, lectures, and educational programs, including foreign weapons training, are available. Call for more information or to schedule tours, training, or briefings. The museum also conducts weekly new-Soldier briefings to introduce new Soldiers to the history, heritage, and values of the 101st Airborne Division (Air Assault).

The museum also has displays in the nearby McAuliffe Hall, the 101st Airborne Division Command and Control Facility, which are open to the public, and includes the 101st Airborne Division Association Monument outside. In the foyer, there are displays dedicated to McAuliffe, for whom the building is named, a rotunda honoring the division's Medal of Honor recipients, a collection of bronze sculptures of airborne Soldiers from WWII to the present day, and an exhibit dedicated to "Old Abe," the Civil War eagle mascot whose image is the origin of the famous Screaming Eagle shoulder patch of the 101st Airborne Division.

The communities of Christian County offer visitors and residents the best of both worlds — the familiarity of a small town, where people care about their neighbors, and big-city features, such as progressive health care, technically advanced industries, and a variety of shopping and recreational opportunities. It's also a place where rush hour and bumper-to-bumper traffic are almost non-existent and, as the locals say, "You're 10 minutes from anywhere." The cost of living is below the national average and housing is affordable and attractive.

Location

Hopkinsville is located approximately 10 to 15 miles north of Fort Campbell with Oak Grove nestled outside the gates of the 101st Airborne Division.

The National Strategy Group listed Hopkinsville as one of the best places to live in the United States and Reader's Digest ranked the city in its top 50 best places to raise a family.

Christian County is within an hour of a variety of recreation, shopping, entertainment and family opportunities, such as Nashville, Tennessee; Paducah, Kentucky; Evansville, Indiana; Land Between the Lakes National Recreation Area; and Pennyryle Forest State Resort Park.

Education

Christian County Public Schools strive to meet the individual needs of each student. To accomplish this mission, the student-teacher ratio is kept at a minimum and multiple school districts are available. In addition to the eight elementary schools, two middle schools, two high schools, and the career and technical academy of the public school district, parochial and private schools are available as well.

When the school day is over, a variety of sports and clubs are available to keep kids involved and active. For more information, visit www.christian.k12.ky.us.

The city also offers higher educational opportunities. Hopkinsville Community College is a comprehensive two-year college offering a wide range of degrees. For more information, visit <https://hopkinsville.kctcs.edu>. Murray State University allows students to obtain a four-year degree without leaving Hopkinsville. For more information, visit www.murraystate.edu/academics/regionalAcademicOutreach/RegionalCampus/hopkinsville.

Supported by state-of-the-art facilities at Jennie Stuart Medical Center and Baptist Health, the Christian County Health Department is charged with health care protection and improvement for all Christian County residents.

The medical community also includes Cumberland Hall Hospital, a psychiatric facility that provides services for residents with emotional and substance abuse problems.

pavilions, softball fields, a disc golf course, a full-size gymnasium and more. The city is also home to the Tie Breaker Family Aquatic Center water park, a country club, a family YMCA and a Boys & Girls Club.

Arts and Attractions

Oak Grove offers top-notch facilities such as the War Memorial Walking Trail Park, the Viceroy Performing Arts Center and Valor Hall Conference & Event Center.

Bruce Convention Center, the Jefferson Davis Monument State Historic Site and Round Table Literary Park. Christian Way Farm has added a miniature golf course to enhance its farm tour.

LAND BETWEEN THE LAKES

Land Between the Lakes National Recreation Area

238 Visitor Center Drive
Golden Pond, KY 42211

www.landbetweenthelakes.us

Land Between the Lakes is the largest inland peninsula in the United States. Land Between the Lakes National Recreation Area manages more than 170,000 acres as part of the U.S. Forest Service and the Department of Agriculture's public lands program. Located in western Kentucky and Tennessee, the area draws approximately 1.5 million visitors annually. With 300 miles of undeveloped shoreline on Kentucky and Barkley lakes, the area offers outdoor recreation and numerous facilities. Facilities include a nature station, a living history farm, a planetarium and observatory, a horseback riding campground and stables, an off-highway vehicle area, the Elk & Bison Prairie, the Iron Industry Ruins, gift shops and visitor information centers.

Outdoor Recreation

There are more than 500 miles of trails and roughly 200 miles of scenic roads for hiking, biking, horseback riding and taking in the area's scenic beauty. Campers can choose from 1,400 campsites, ranging from RV sites with shower and restroom facilities to primitive campsites. Many campsites offer lake access. Other outdoor recreation opportunities include birding, fishing, geocaching, hunting, swimming, target shooting and more.

History

Land Between the Lakes has three sites on the National Register of Historic Places: Fort Henry, site of a major Civil War battle; the Center Furnace; and the Great Western Iron Furnace. The region was primarily an iron production center during the mid-19th century. The ruins of two of the area's iron furnaces are accessible to visitors.

Wildlife and Plants

Land Between the Lakes has the largest publicly owned bison herd east of the Mississippi River and more than 1,300 plant species, approximately 260 bird species and 55 different mammal species. Land Between the Lakes was an active participant in the nation's efforts to re-establish the eagle population in western Kentucky and Tennessee. Other wildlife includes bats, bobcats, coyotes, deer, foxes, herons, hummingbirds, muskrats, osprey, squirrels, turkeys, turtles, vultures, woodpeckers and more. For more information about recent wildlife sightings and wildlife viewing opportunities, stop by the Woodlands Nature Station.

Attractions

Attractions at Land Between the Lakes include the Homeplace living history farm, Woodlands Nature Station, Elk & Bison Prairie, and Golden Pond Planetarium and Observatory.

The Homeplace, in the southern portion of Land Between the Lakes, allows visitors to experience life much as it was in mid-19th century rural America. Through a blending of artifacts, historic structures and the re-creation of farm activities, the Homeplace gives visitors a glimpse of the traditions and lifestyles of this era in American history.

The nature station offers special events throughout the year in addition to the regular calendar of programs and demonstrations. Among the most popular events are guided bald eagle excursions. These van and boat tours take visitors into the field to see the migratory bald eagle population wintering in the area.

The Elk & Bison Prairie is another fascinating Land between the Lakes attraction. Opened in June 1996, this 700-acre area is a restoration of the native prairie habitat that thrived in western Kentucky and upper middle Tennessee over 200 years ago. Native wildlife such as elk and bison inhabit the prairie. Visitors can take a self-guided driving tour of the prairie along a 3.5-mile paved loop featuring interpretive stops.

The Golden Pond Planetarium is inside the Golden Pond Visitor Center. The planetarium features an 81-seat theater and offers state-of-the-art planetarium shows year-round. It's also home to the Western Kentucky Amateur Astronomers, which holds meetings and stargazing sessions.

THE GRAND OLE OPRY

Nashville, TN 37214

There are more ways to enjoy the Grand Ole Opry than ever before. Many things about the Opry have changed over the years — its members, the sound of its music, even its home. But there’s always that oak-solid center to remind every singer or musician who steps inside that they take part in something much larger than themselves — that wherever they go they have a connection to the legends and the giants who came before them. The 6-foot circle of dark, oak wood in the Opry House stage is shiny but clearly well-worn. Cut from the shingle of the Opry’s famous former home, the Ryman Auditorium, this circle gives newcomers and veterans alike the opportunity to sing on the same spot that once supported Uncle Dave Macon, Ernest Tubb, Patsy Cline and others. "That circle is the most magical thing when you're a performer," said country music star Brad Paisley. "It's an honor to stand there and get to sing on those same boards that probably still contain dust from Hank Williams' boots."

BOMB THREATS, THREATENING AND OBSCENE TELEPHONE CALLS

Bomb threats, physical threatening or obscene telephone calls can be a problem. If you receive such calls, follow these instructions to assist military police and telephone security personnel in the identifying potential offenders.

Procedures for Persons Receiving Bomb Threat Calls

Refer to the Department of Homeland Security Bomb Threat Information Card. These cards are available at http://emilms.fema.gov/is906/assets/ocso-bomb_threat_samepage-brochure.pdf. Follow procedures outlined on the form if you receive a bomb threat. A copy of the form must be readily available near your telephone at all times. If a bomb threat is received via telephone do not hang up the telephone, contact the military police, telephone 798-7111, give your name, location, and the number of the telephone on which you were called. Immediately notify the senior official of the unit/facility threatened.

Procedures for Persons Receiving Annoying or Obscene Telephone Calls

- a. Always get the caller's identification. If the caller asks "Who is this?" refuse to answer. Instead, ask, "What number did you call?" or "Whom do you wish to speak to?"

- b. If you have small children, instruct them to NEVER talk to strangers on the phone. A child's comment that Daddy and Mommy are out for the evening could set up your home for robbery or worse circumstances.
- c. Adults should never give information about themselves or their home to telephone callers they don't know. That includes "salesmen" and "survey" operations, etc.
- d. If a caller remains silent when you answer the phone, hang up immediately. If the caller persists, contact the military police, telephone 798-7111, for assistance.
- e. If you are a woman living alone, never list your full name in the telephone book. Use your initials and last name.
- f. Report any obscene or threatening telephone calls to the police. When answering such calls, remain calm. Don't repeatedly ask who he/she is or what he/she wants. Many callers want to upset or scare you. Hang up if the caller begins threatening or obscene remarks.

The military police, telephone 798-7111, will assist you with more detailed information on annoyance calls.

BOMB THREAT CALL PROCEDURES

Most bomb threats are received by phone. Bomb threats are serious until proven otherwise. Act quickly, but remain calm and obtain information with the checklist on the reverse of this card.

2. Listen carefully. Be polite and show interest.
3. Try to keep the caller talking to learn more information.
4. If possible, write a note to a colleague to call the authorities or, as soon as the caller hangs up, immediately notify them yourself.
5. If your phone has a display, copy the number and/or letters on the window display.
6. Complete the Bomb Threat Checklist (reverse side) immediately. Write down as much detail as you can remember. Try to get exact words.
7. Immediately upon termination of the call, do not hang up, but from a different phone, contact FPS immediately with information and await instructions.
