EVERYTHING WE DO SUPPORTS THE WARFIGHTER

Welcome to Marine Corps Logistics Base Albany, Georgia – home of Marine Corps Logistics Command headquarters. Established as the Marine Corps Depot of Supplies in 1952, the installation covers approximately 3,600 acres of Dougherty County. Based in a region with a rich history, we serve as a platform for military, civilian and contract personnel to ensure ground combat and ground combat support equipment is ready for warfighters overseas when they need it.

Tenant organizations here include Marine Depot Maintenance Command, Marine Force Storage Command, Georgia Army National Guard, Defense Logistics Agency and other tenants. All have a common goal in supporting national defense, or serving Marines, Sailors, veterans and their families.

We have one of the most comprehensive and credible safety programs in the Department of Defense, being one of only five Marine Corps bases recognized as a Voluntary Protection Program Star Site by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration. As we strive to improve on safety and cleanliness, we also make efficient use of our natural resources while conserving energy through awareness.

We received the annual Marine Corps' Ground Safety Warrior Preservation Award four times, the latest in 2017, and the Secretary of the Navy's Energy award a record seven times, with 2019 being our most recent accomplishment in this area.

Various partnerships have assisted our efforts to conserve energy, increase security and reduce cost. Among these are a 44-megawatt solar facility leased to Georgia Power in 2017 that spans 150 acres; a landfill gas-to-energy generator; a borehole thermal control system and a biomass project.

During the summer of 2020, MCLB Albany is expected become a "NetZero" base while also serving as the site for several pilot projects in the Department of Defense including the implementation of 5G capability and a Facility Related Control System.

In times of regional emergencies, MCLB Albany serves as an Incident Support Base for the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) and a Base Support Installation for the Georgia Army National Guard and the Army Corps of Engineers to provide emergency services to states, cities, and counties in times of natural disasters. The most recent example was Hurricane Michael in October 2018 and Hurricane Dorian in September 2019, after which FEMA and the Army Corps of Engineers focused on power restoration and debris removal in the local and surrounding communities.

The base also serves as a safe haven site for the Marine Corps and other DOD installations when they are in the projected path of severe weather events. During the wrath of Hurricane Dorian, personnel and recruits from Marine Corps Recruit Depot Parris Island evacuated to MCLB Albany – continuing their training until it was safe to return to South Carolina.

Along with its rich history and culture, southwest Georgia has a lot to offer in attractions and recreational amenities. The plentiful activities include boating, fishing, golfing and hunting, as well as festivals celebrating the region's agricultural industry, museums, history sites, parks, and a zoo, to name a few. The base is also located close enough to the coast and the Gulf of Mexico, making it an ideal location for a quiet vacation nearby.

Albany is also home to Albany State University and Albany Technical College, as well as a host of public and private elementary, middle and high schools.

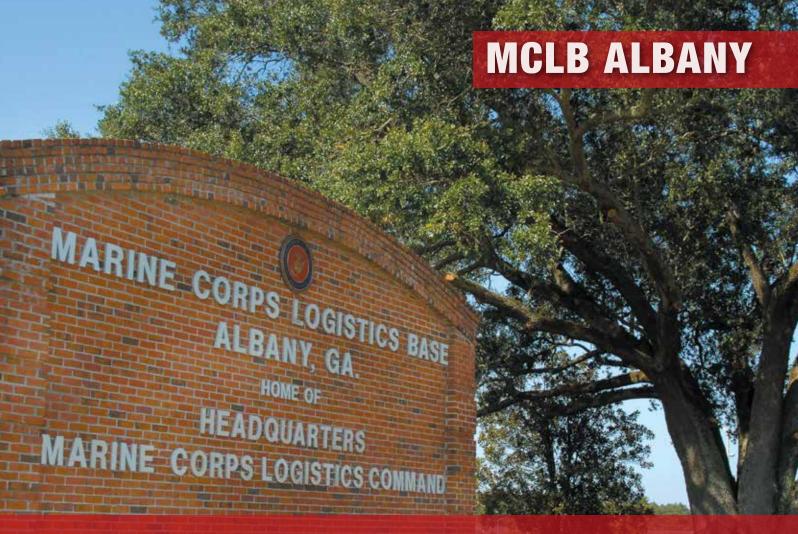

We hope this guide serves you well regardless of your connection to MCLB Albany. Whether you are assigned to the base, a tenant organization, a family member or just passing through, in the end, it is all about the individuals that make the progress at the base possible.

Sgt. Maj. Jeffrey Young and I welcome you to MCLB Albany, where we focus on taking care of our warfighters and our people ... in everything we do.

Alphonso Trimble Commanding Officer

MARINE CORPS LOGISTICS BASE ALBANY

MISSION

Marine Corps Logistics Base Albany provides efficient facilities, infrastructure and a range of tailored installation support services that enables our tenants to accomplish their assigned missions in support of the warfighter while simultaneously enhancing their quality of life.

MCLB Albany is one of six commands under Marine Corps Installations East, headquartered at Camp Lejuene, N.C. The base supports the warfighter by providing support services to its tenants in a high-quality and cost-effective manner. The primary tenant command, Marine Corps Logistics Command (MARCORLOGCOM), has the mission of repairing and resetting the equipment Marines utilize overseas.

The base is dedicated to the success and welfare of its support commands and agencies, particularly MARCORLOGCOM and its components; Marines, Sailors and other service members and families; civilian personnel; and the surrounding community in Dougherty, Lee and Worth counties.

MCLB Albany, within capabilities, serves as a designated safe haven for the Marine Corps and other Department of Defense agencies within the Southeast and Gulf Coast regions during times of threat and recovery from destructive weather and emergency situations. Base officials are committed to providing service members, civilian-Marines and families a safe and secure environment to work and live in, contributing to their quality of life.

As part of its effort to remain environmentally conscious, ways are being sought to decrease the use of nonrenewable energy sources to increase security and reduce cost. The help of various community partners have allowed projects involving landfill gas generators, a biomass generator, a borehole thermal energy system and a solar facility to be brought to fruition in recent years to achieve the goal of preserving southwest Georgia resources -- and MCLB Albany becoming a "NetZero" base this summer.

Meanwhile, the base serves as the site of several pilot projects, including the Facility-Related Control System and 5G technology, which will eventually be implemented at other Marine Corps installations to take the Corps as a whole into the future.

While meeting all of these objectives, MCLB Albany reaches out to the surrounding community to find ways to share common goals and values, and build relationships that have a positive impact on the Marine Corps and the community. The connections built are meant to extend far into the future.

HISTORY OF THE COMMAND

More than 200 Native American artifacts have been found at Marine Corps Logistics Base Albany. They indicate that a Native American hunting ground once stood on the east end of the base. The flint knives, scrapers, drills, agricultural tools, arrowheads and spearheads found are believed by University of Georgia archeologists to be 8,000-10,000 years old.

They are evidence that Native Americans also used the site as a supply and resupply center. Black flint, which comes from North Georgia, has also been found. This discovery suggests that South Georgia Native Americans made the product an early example of commerce in the Southeast.

A large oak tree stands outside the main gate of MCLB Albany, serving as a historical landmark. It is named after Col. A.E. Dubber, who was in charge of planning and construction of the base, then known as Marine Corps Depot of Supplies, Albany, Georgia, from March 1952 to July 1955. Dubber was insistent the construction of the depot be aligned on the tree.

During the depot's construction, the tree became affectionately known as "Dubber's Oak." It remains standing to this day outside MCLB's main gate. On the other side of the gate is an integrated workforce of military and civilian men and women accomplishing the base's mission of supporting organizations that help sustain Marines around the world.

The work done at Production Plant Albany and throughout the base directly and positively contributes to the safety and security of service members, the community and the nation. These efforts support and defend our warfighters.

The base was commissioned at Marine Corps Depot of Supplies on March 1, 1952, with Brig. Gen. Raymond P. Coffman assuming command. A small contingent of Marines established headquarters in temporary buildings. The depot's name changed two more times before it became Marine Corps Logistics Base Albany on Nov. 1, 1978.

In 2005, the Marine Corps regionalized all its installations, and the organization here was divided into a base command (MCLB Albany) and Marine Corps Logistics Command.

An asset to the Marine Corps Police Department here is the Cpl. Dustin Jerome Lee Kennel, dedicated on March 19, 2010. Lee died of wounds sustained in combat operations in Iraq on March 21, 2007. Attached to MCLB Albany prior to his deployment, Lee joined the Marine Corps in 2003 and trained as a military policeman and dog handler.

Lee's military working dog, Lex, was injured in the attack and later returned to active duty. After petitioning for his adoption, Lee's family was able to take Lex in. Lex remained with the Lee family in Mississippi until his death from natural causes on March 25, 2012. He is known as the first active duty, fully fit military working dog to be granted early retirement in order to be adopted.

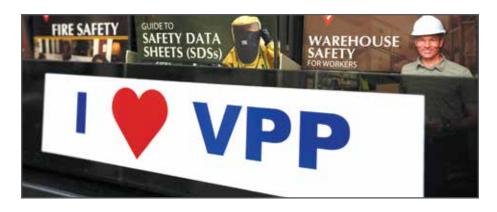

HISTORY OF THE COMMAND

Albany has a rich history of tradition, transitional periods, economic change, prosperity and growth. The base had a $1.56 billion economic impact to the southwest Georgia area in Fiscal Year 2019 and employs more than 5,000 active-duty military, civilians and contractors. Spanning 3,600 acres, it now supports 40-plus tenant organizations including the Georgia Army National Guard, the Albany Veterans Affairs Community-Based Outpatient Clinic and the Naval Facilities Engineering Command, to name a few.

On Sept. 23, 2011, MCLB and local officials flipped the switch on a $20 million generator plant designed to produce renewable electric power and steam by burning methane gas generated from a nearby Dougherty County, Georgia landfill. It was the end-product of the Department of Navy's first landfill gas-to-energy partnership developed in December 2009 that included MCLB, Dougherty County and Chevron Energy.

Another milestone was marked at the Naval Branch Health Clinic on Sept. 19, 2014 when Marine Corps, Navy and VA officials celebrated the opening of the VA clinic aboard MCLB Albany. Formerly located on West Broad Avenue in downtown Albany, the VA clinic is now colocated at the Naval Branch Health Clinic on base.

The base was recognized May 5, 2015 by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration for superior excellence in health worker safety and awarded Voluntary Protection Programs (VPP) Star Status, designating the base as a Star site within the Department of Defense.

Additionally, the base has received the annual Marine Corps' Ground Safety Warrior Preservation Award four times, the latest in 2017, and the Secretary of the Navy's Energy Award a record seven times with 2019 as our most recent Energy Award recognition. Various partnerships over the last decade have helped efforts to conserve energy, increase security and reduce cost. They have included a 44-megawatt solar facility leased to Georgia Power in 2017 that spans 150 acres, the landfill gas-to-energy generator, borehole thermal control system and a biomass project.

Superbowl Sunday of 2017, Jan. 22, is known in the Albany area as the date of an EF3 tornado that caused devastation throughout the base and the region. The industrial sector of the installation took a direct hit, which caused more than $100 million in damage. Power was knocked out, and multiple structures were either damaged or completely destroyed. The storm packed winds of 150 miles per hour and cut a 71-mile path of destruction.

No deaths or injuries were reported on the installation, but five deaths in the Dougherty County community were associated with the storm.

On Oct. 10, 2018, the base was struck by the eyewall of Hurricane Michael. A Category 4 storm when it made landfall in Mexico Beach, Fla., Michael was a Category 3 hurricane as it came into the heart of southwest Georgia. Installation personnel were tasked with assessing damage and orchestrating cleanup in its aftermath. Damage estimates were at roughly $40 million, with a devastating impact on the region's agricultural industry.

At the close of 2019, MCLB Albany was serving as the site of several pilot projects including 5G technology and a Facility-Related Control System, which are expected to later be implemented at other Marine Corps installations. MCLB Albany is anticipated to reach "NetZero" status during the summer of 2020 for its energy efficient use.

While there were no reported injuries or deaths at MCLB Albany, sadly, five deaths were reported in Dougherty County as a result of the tornado. NAVAL BRANCH HEALTH CLINIC, ALBANY

Naval Branch Health Clinic Albany is one of Naval Hospital Jacksonville's five branch health clinics. Our priority is to heal our nation's heroes — Marines, Sailors, Soldiers, Airmen, Guardsmen (active and retired) — and their families.

Our clinic is at Bldg. 7000 (on Radford Blvd.). If you have a primary care manager (PCM) at our branch health clinic, you're part of our Medical Home Port (Olive) team of caregivers. Led by the PCM, the team focuses on meeting your preventive, routine, and urgent needs.

Convenience options include the 24/7 Nurse Advice Line, TRICARE Online Patient Portal, Secure Email Messaging, and Pharmacy Home Delivery.

Naval Branch Health Clinic Albany consistently earns The Joint Commission's Gold Seal of Approval® for Hospital Accreditation, and its Medical Home Port (Olive) team has earned Primary Care Medical Home Certification from The Joint Commission.

When arriving aboard MCLB Albany

Update your address (call DEERS at 800-538-9552). Change to a local PCM (call TRICARE at 800-444-5445 or go to https://milconnect.dmdc.osd.mil). Register at NBHC Albany's Medical Records. Make an appointment with your new PCM.

Getting Care

For appointments, call 229-639-7886, or schedule online at www.TRICAREonline.com.

MARINE CORPS LOGISTICS COMMAND

Marine Corps Logistics Command is the largest tenant organization aboard Marine Corps Logistics Base Albany, Georgia.

Under the command of Maj. Gen. Joseph F. Shrader, MARCORLOGCOM provides globally responsive ground equipment inventory control and integrated operational-level logistics capabilities to maximize Marine Corps material readiness and sustainment.

Established May 8, 2003, MARCORLOGCOM supports the operating forces, supporting establishment and the acquisition community by providing value-added integrated logistics solutions. MARCORLOGCOM consists of a Headquarters Group and three subordinate commands: Blount Island Command, Marine Depot Maintenance Command and Marine Force Storage Command.

Marine Corps Logistics Command has seven essential tasks focused on providing operational-level logistics support to Marine forces, life cycle logistics support to program managers and materiel management/ inventory control of Marine Corps ground equipment. These tasks are (1) enterprise depot-level maintenance, (2) prepositioning and war reserve, (3) ground equipment inventory management, (4) distribution, (5) storage, (6) weapon system life cycle support, and (7) operational-level logistics. MARCORLOGCOM's primary focus is to provide maximum equipment readiness to go to war, sustain military operations through mission accomplishment, and support redeployment/retrograde operations.

MARINE CORPS LOGISTICS COMMAND HEADQUARTERS GROUP

Marine Corps Logistics Command Headquarters Group is MARCORLOGCOM's command structure that ensures adherence to the Marine Corps' professional standards and training requirements; maintains good order and discipline; and provides for the health, welfare and safety of all Marines assigned to the command. Under the leadership of a commander and senior enlisted advisor, the group is the formal chain of command for Headquarters Company East in Albany, Georgia and Headquarters Company West in Barstow, California.

BLOUNT ISLAND COMMAND

Blount Island Command (BICmd) provides technical assistance to Marine Air-Ground Task Force (MAGTF) commanders for all aspects of planning, deployment, arrival and assembly, and reconstitution of prepositioned assets. Directly supporting power projection during global crises.

Located in Jacksonville, Florida, aboard Marine Corps Support Facility Blount Island, this industrial base and a robust local Navy support infrastructure provides an advantage not readily available to other sites. The MPF is comprised of two Maritime Prepositioning Ship Squadrons that carry the combat equipment and sustainment to support up to two Marine Expeditionary Brigades of roughly 18,000 Marines and Sailors each. BICmd also manages the Marine Corps Prepositioning Program-Norway and the Marine Expeditionary Unit Augmentation Program in Kuwait.

MARINE DEPOT MAINTENANCE COMMAND/PRODUCTION PLANT ALBANY

Production Plant Albany's motto says it all: "What YOU do is IMPORTANT. Every day a MARINE'S LIFE will depend on it!"

Marine Depot Maintenance

Command is the Marine Corps' ground combat equipment maintenance depot; it is head-quartered in Albany, Georgia, and Barstow, California.

MDMC supports the Marine Corps and other customers with the repair of ground-combat and combat-support equipment. As a subordinate command and integral part of Marine Corps Logistics command, MDMC provides critical support to the equipment used in overseas contingency operations.

With a diverse workforce of more than 2,300 civilians, contractors and active-duty Marines, MDMC concurrently works more than 400 production lines at once, producing more than 12,000 pieces of equipment annually. As the Marine Corps' organic depot maintenance provider, MDMC provides depot-level maintenance, rebuilds and repairs, engineering, manufacturing and other technical services to maximize readiness and sustainability of ground weapons systems and equipment to include assault vehicles, combat vehicles, ordnance systems, small arms, automotive vehicles, engineering equipment and secondary repairables.

Marine Depot Maintenance Command's staff also provides calibration support and inspect-and-repair-only-as-necessary support to various Marine Corps customers, as well as prepares for shipment and care-in-store support to remote storage activities.

More than 80 percent of its workforce is cross-trained to work in more than one commodity area. With this type of diversity, the workload can be adjusted literally overnight to meet the mission-critical requirements.

Marine Depot Maintenance Command's multi-commodity maintenance concept works — it is responsive to the Marine Corps' requirement, it is paid for with less than 4 percent of the total Department of Defense dollars dedicated to depot maintenance and is an integral part of the nation's 9-1-1 force-in-readiness.

Production Plant Albany, formerly known as Maintenance Center Albany, was established Feb. 1, 1954, as the Repair Branch, Marine Corps Depot of Supplies, Albany, Georgia, and began repair production Oct. 1, 1954.

On July 1, 1956, the name changed to Repair Division, and during July 1968, it became an Industrial Fund Activity, which meant it operated its business using the financial principles and practices commonly found in the private sector.

During the 1960s and 1970s, Repair Division provided significant support to Marine Forces worldwide, including the Vietnam conflict. Maintenance Center Albany received a Meritorious Unit Commendation in August 2004 for providing more than 1 million pounds of armor kits for vehicles involved in Operation Iraqi Freedom.

Today, the command continues to accomplish a variety of innovative projects and support activities. Other notables include:

 2004 — Meritorious Unit Commendation from the Secretary of the Navy for providing, under cost and under budget, more than

- 1 million armor kits for vehicles involved in Operation Iraqi Freedom.

MARINE FORCE STORAGE COMMAND

Marine Force Storage Command, headquartered in Albany, Ga., provides storage, preservation, stock readiness and field-level maintenance of Marine Corps ground equipment and associated collateral materiel. Marine Force Storage Command provides globally responsive materiel support to the total force.

Marine Force Storage Command's simplified mission statement is: "To store combat ready capability sets in order to sustain the Marine Corps' Expeditionary Force in Readiness." The three top mission essential tasks for the Command is Storage – safekeeping of supplies and equipment in a ready-for-issue condition in support of the U.S. Marine Corps. Stock Readiness – managing the Care Of Supplies In-Stores and total accountability, and finally Maintenance Management – managing maintenance within the organization's capabilities.

MFSC's two battalions are strategically positioned in Albany, Ga. and Barstow, Calif.

With a diverse workforce consisting of Marines, civilian-Marines and contractors, MFSC holds nearly a quarter of the Marine Corps' inventory of military equipment in various locations throughout the country.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES,

Born in the depths of the Great Depression, the American Federation of Government Employees formed in 1932 at one of the most uncertain periods in our nation's history. Elected officials had crippled the civil service, wage cuts and furloughs were on the rise and promotions and leave privileges were hard to come by. Back then, federal employees lacked many of the basic rights they enjoy today, such as health insurance, overtime pay and weekends without work.

During the next two decades, new chapters began to pop up across the country, bringing with it greater leverage to represent their members. In 1945, after years of pay freezes, AFGE secured a near-16 percent pay increase with the passage of the Federal Pay Act—the largest single-pay increase before or since. In the 1950s, AFGE fought for and won the introduction of within-grade pay increases, transportation allowances for transferred workers and payment for accrued annual leave, overtime and night and holiday work.

But even up to the 1960s, AFGE didn't have true bargaining rights. After years of work, President John F. Kennedy in 1962 proclaimed that "the right of federal employees to deal collectively with the federal departments and agencies in which they are employed should be protected" in Executive Order 10988, which established for the first time the right of federal employees to exercise their voice in the workplace.

In the half-century since winning real bargaining rights, AFGE has extended the dignity of a union contract to more than 670,000 government employees in thousands of federal and Washington, D.C., government facilities across the country. Today AFGE stands as one of the largest and most influential forces for worker, civil and human rights in the world.

The union is headquartered in Washington, D.C., and divided into 12 geographical districts consisting of some 1,100 locals. More than one-half of AFGE's members are consolidated into agency-wide bargaining units. Agencies with the highest concentration of union membership include the Department of Defense, the Department of Veterans Affairs, the Social Security Administration and the Department of Justice.

American Federation of Government Employees, Local 2317 is in the fifth district and is the second-largest local union, representing about 2,200 bargaining unit employees here that include Defense Commissary Agency, Defense Logistics Agency, Non-Appropriated Fund Instrumentality and Marine Corps employees.

AFGE, Local 2317 is in Building 3600; its phone numbers are 229-435-3800 and 229-639-5526.

customer requirements. Offline bindery such as screw posting, spiral binding, tape binding and stitching are available. Color printing, laminating and poster prints are also part of the many varied services offered.

For example, the Electronic Document Management Service is used to assist the Defense Distribution Center in electronically capturing, processing, managing and storing millions of documents such as invoices, packing lists and bills of lading that help identify receipt, transportation and inventory transactions used in supplying U.S. military units.

A web-based system for ordering services from DLA Document Services is available at www.dla.mil/HQ/InformationOperations/ DocumentServices. Following the user-friendly instructions, customers can design job specifications, submit a document file and receive a cost estimate prior to finalizing their orders. Customers can even electronically proof a job in progress. When print orders are completed, DLA Document Services will ship it to any location or have it ready for pickup at a convenient facility. DLA Document Services Online is designed for military and government agency customers. It meets all government security requirements, specifically for the Department of Defense.

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE, DEFENSE SECURITY COOPERATION AGENCY HUMANITARIAN ASSISTANCE-EXCESS PROPERTY PROGRAM

The Department of Defense, Defense Security Cooperation Agency Humanitarian Assistance-Excess Property Program at Marine Corps

Logistics Base Albany, permits the DOD to make available, prepare and transport non-lethal excess property to foreign countries when requested by the Department of State.

Through the excess property program, the DOD donates and distributes excess property to U.S. government efforts to avert humanitarian crises, promote democratic development and regional stability and enable countries to recover from conflict. Examples of excess property typically provided include medical equipment and supplies, generators and other electrical equipment, school supplies, tools, furniture, tents, blankets, sleeping bags and clothing.

Excess property made available for humanitarian relief purposes is transferred to the Department of State, which is responsible for the distribution to the intended recipient (normally a host nation government, a charitable-type organization or a nongovernmental organization).

When a natural disaster occurs, the HA-EP facilities can assist by providing disaster-relief supplies such as medical supplies, tents, blankets and humanitarian daily rations. This way the program can also be used to stave off or mitigate the effects of acute crises and therefore minimize the need to deploy U.S. forces.

The HA-EP warehouse in Okinawa, Japan, provides EP storage, refurbishment and shipment for U.S. Pacific Command. Additionally, the HA-EP warehouse in Livorno, Italy, provides storage and shipments for U.S. European and African Commands.

The consolidated EP facility in Albany, Georgia, prepares the property for shipment for U.S. Central Command and U.S. Southern Command recipients.

DETACHMENT 2, SUPPLY COMPANY, COMBAT LOGISTICS BATTALION 453

The mission of Detachment 2, Supply Company, Combat Logistics Battalion 453, is to train and field Selected Marine Corps Reserve Marines to augment the active-duty component by providing taskorganized, direct support and intermediatelevel ground supply support to the operating forces as well as being prepared to deploy worldwide as operational situations dictate.

The Marines hail all over Southwest Georgia, North Florida and even parts of Alabama. They represent various backgrounds and civilian occupations: college students, firefighters, law enforcement officers, railroad workers, lifeguards, correction officers, accountants and mechanics. This diversity brings many additional skill sets to enhance their MOS and combat skills training. Thus, Detachment 2 is able to fully complete its training with the opportunities that are available.

The Detachment also aggressively supports and assists the base and local community in many ways. Some examples are (list is not inclusive): providing color guard and funeral details, casualty assistance and the annual Toys for Tots Program, which provides gifts for less-fortunate children in the Southwest Georgia area. At the Detachment, an Inspector-Instructor staff provides equipment, training, administrative and logistical support necessary for the Marines of Detachment 2 to accomplish its mission in the most efficient and proficient manner possible.

JOINT PROGRAM EXECUTIVE OFFICE-CHEMICAL AND BIOLOGICAL DEFENSE ENTERPRISE FIELDING AND SURVEILLANCE DIRECTORATE

On June 1, 2012, the Joint Program Executive Office expanded its current surveillance mission by integrating the JPEO-CBD Enterprise Fielding and Surveillance team, formerly known as the Joint Equipment Assessment Program and their proven surveillance processes into fielding events. Surveillance is a process that has been used to effectively gather data which, with appropriate analysis and interpretation, can provide an accurate, real-time evaluation of the performance condition of a CBD acquisition system. The JEFS team is working closely with Joint Project Managers to execute this new responsibility in support of JPEO's goal to deliver a more efficient and cost-effective total package fielding process to the warfighter.

JEFS is also responsible for accountability and disposal of chemical, biological defense equipment and test management services throughout the Department of Defense.

Mission Areas

Fielding and Surveillance Teams (FSTs)

Conduct on-site baseline surveillance of wholesale assets in conjunction with fielding events of newly procured items and material. Assist the JPMs and JPEO-CBD by identifying, reporting and analyzing production issues and deficiencies in an effort to improve product quality. The FST also provides support to the overall fielding event. By request, the FSTs will schedule and conduct CBD equipment surveillance site visits for the services. Surveillance site visits provide unit commanders with invaluable feedback on their CBD equipment readiness and also provide training to CBD personnel on proper care, maintenance and storage procedures for CBD equipment.

Test Management Services

Develop and maintain technical expertise in support of DOD requirements for production lot, fielding and sustainment testing as necessary to accomplish total life cycle management of CBRN-D equipment.

Defense Accountability, Reutilization and Disposal

Maintain accountability and proper disposal of all CBRN-D assets identified as controlled items. Maintain accurate records of receipt, inventory, disposal, training, recycle and serviceable assets. JEFS, DARD project will utilize better business practices for process improvement and cost efficiencies and ensure proper demilitarization or recycling of unserviceable CBRN-D equipment under its control.

MARINE CORPS SYSTEMS COMMAND

Marine Corps Systems Command, in conjunction with the Corps' Program Executive Officer Land Systems, outfits Marines with everything they drive, shoot and wear. Specifically, the command's mission is to serve as the Department of the Navy's systems command for Marine Corps ground weapons and information technology system programs in order to equip and sustain Marine forces with full-spectrum, current and future expeditionary and crisis response capabilities.

The command has management authority and accountability for assigned Marine Corps expeditionary forces weapons and IT system programs with the exception of naval aviation programs and that authority and responsibility specifically assigned to a PEO or direct reporting program manager. MCSC also has dual-reporting responsibilities. For research, development and acquisition matters, MCSC's commander, reports to the Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Research, Development and Acquisition. For in-service support, execution of logistics sustainment and operating forces support, the commander reports to the Commandant of the Marine Corps.

Marine Corps Systems Command's focus is the young Marine in harm's way, protecting him or her, and providing this war fighter the wherewithal to execute the mission. With the help of contracted specialists, MCSC's team of professional Civilian-Marines and active-duty Marines equips the war fighter to win. They listen, learn, research, develop, test, procure and sustain - whatever it takes to get Marines what they need, when they need it - and according to MCSC officials, they do it efficiently and for the best value possible.

Collectively, MCSC's team of professional Civilian-Marines and active-duty Marines works hard to be timely and consistent in providing quality systems and equipment to the operating forces. They then expertly manage systems and equipment during their entire lifecycles.

The technological advantage MCSC provides helps Marines to shoot straighter, move faster and communicate more effectively so they can continue to win battles in every clime and place. The command cares deeply about each and every Marine and works hard daily with one thought in mind: to provide Marines with the systems and equipment necessary to ensure they return home to their families safe and sound.

Marine Corps Systems Command personnel aboard Marine Corps Logistics Base Albany are involved in the product support management of ground combat equipment and information technology systems. The roughly 350 Marines, Civilian-Marines and civilian contractors are structured under the command's Competency Aligned Organization to be members of integrated product teams in support of the Marine Corps Program Management Offices, program managers and product managers. They support MCSC's acquisition mission through product support management of ground combat equipment and information technology systems.

NAVAL FACILITIES ENGINEERING COMMAND

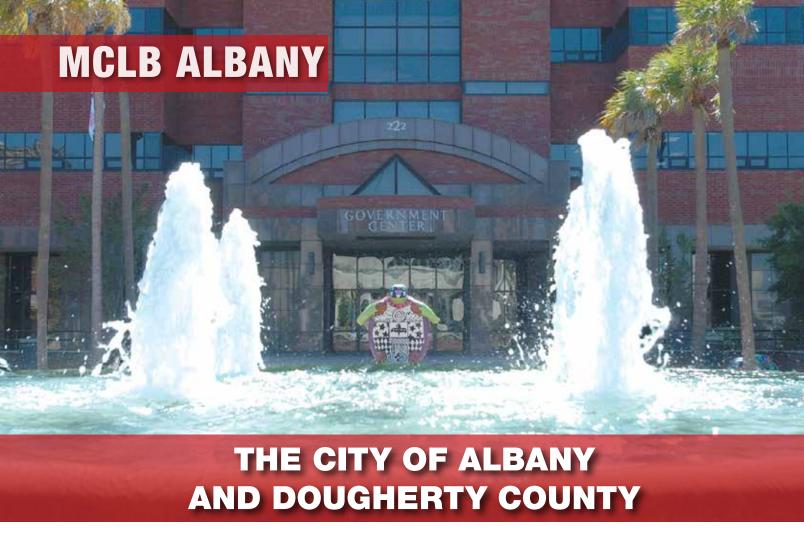

The mission of the Facilities 7 ities Engineering and Acquisition Division is to enhance the readiness and capabilities of supported commands by safely delivering quality services and construction on time and within budget. FEAD Albany is a field office and reports to Naval Facilities Engineering Command Mid-Atlantic, headquartered in Norfolk, Virginia.

The FEAD office is responsible for awarding and administering service, construction and engineering contracts at MCLB Albany.

Albany is the hub of Southwest Georgia. Col. Nelson Tift of Connecticut settled on the banks of the Flint River in 1836 on the site that is now Albany.

It is the trade, retail and medical center for all of Southwest Georgia. The developmental highway system provides four-lane access to all major interstate highways, thus making Albany a transportation, trucking and distribution center. Albany also offers rail service, airline freight, and passenger and bus services.

Albany is the seat of Dougherty County government and the regional center for industry, business, retail sales, education, cultural activities, health care and news media. The greater Albany area includes seven primary counties — Baker, Calhoun, Dougherty, Lee, Mitchell, Terrell and Worth.

Designated as Georgia's first five-star city in 1992, by then-Gov. Zell Miller, Albany is a community that offers the amenities of a large metropolitan area while maintaining its small-town warmth and friendliness. Vital information and tips to help newcomers become established can be found on the Albany Area Chamber of Commerce website at www.albanyga.com and the Albany Convention and Visitors Bureau website at www.visitalbanyga.com.

Albany's metropolitan statistical area is Dougherty, Lee, Baker, Terrell and Worth counties, equaling a population of more than 162,000.

ALBANY AREA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The military community is an important part of the Albany Area Chamber of Commerce. The relationship dates back to 1948 when the president of the chamber assisted in the recruiting of a Marine Corps base for Albany. Members of the military community are always welcomed and encouraged to attend chamber functions and interact with the leadership of the region.

The chamber's Military Affairs Committee works with base officials to ensure the base's community role is recognized and to demonstrate the community's appreciation for service members and their families who are assigned duty at the Marine base.

The chamber is here to serve the business community and to help businesses thrive. Marine Corps Logistics Base Albany is an important part of the business community. As Marines and their families live, work, shop and attend schools and churches in the area, they also become a part of Albany's cultural and social framework.

PHOEBE PUTNEY HEALTH SYSTEM

The Phoebe Putney Health System is a not-for-profit healthcare delivery system that serves more than half a million residents in Southwest Georgia. With more than 4,300 employees, the system is made up of three hospitals, family medicine clinics, rehabilitation facilities and specialty physician offices. Phoebe Physicians, our employed-physician group, includes well over 300 clinicians who work in 42 clinics in nine counties. Phoebe's facilities, advanced medical technologies and treatments, and highly-qualified professionals have distinguished the system as a healthcare leader.

Founded in 1911, Phoebe Putney Memorial Hospital is the health system's flagship hospital and one of Georgia's largest comprehensive regional medical centers with 691 beds. PPMH offers medical-surgical care, emergency treatment, cardiac care, obstetrics, pediatrics, wound care and a woman's health center as well as many services including:

State-of-the-art Cancer Center: The Phoebe Cancer Center, accredited by the Commission on Cancer, offers patients the opportunity to stay close to home while receiving the most advanced cancer therapies. With its large array of programs for prevention, screening, diagnosis and treatment, it offers more reason for hope and healing.

THE CITY OF ALBANY AND DOUGHERTY COUNTY

- Heart and Vascular Center: Phoebe launched the region's first open-heart surgery program more than 30 years ago and has remained on the cutting edge of heart and vascular care ever since. Phoebe has cardiology practices across southwest Georgia offering services including cardiology, cardiovascular surgery, electrophysiology practices across disciplinary structural hear program. Phoebe offers nearly 80 cardiovascular procedures. Phoebe's cardiologists have performed more cardiology procedures, such as angioplasty and catheterization, than all other southwest Georgia hospitals combined. And Phoebe's interventional electrophysiologists are among a handful of physicians in Georgia specializing in the diagnosis and treatment of arrhythmias, or abnormal heart rhythms.
- · Women and Children's Services: Phoebe is one of only six designated perinatal centers in the state of Georgia and is the region's only provider of neonatal intensive care. In 2017, Phoebe became just the second Georgia hospital outside Atlanta to earn designation as a Baby-Friendly Hospital from Baby Friendly USA. Earning the recognition took five years of training staff, collecting data, implementing policies and changing routines to make sure we are supporting the absolute best practices in maternal care. Phoebe also is the only hospital in the region with a full-time staff of OB/GYN hospitalists and a dedicated OB/GYN emergency department.

Education has always played an important role in Phoebe's organizational environment. Phoebe is proud to support healthcare programs at higher education institutions as they prepare future nurses and doctors to care for the citizens of southwest Georgia. Since 1993, the Phoebe Family Medicine Residency has graduated 125 physician residents who spent three years in Albany treating patients and honing their skills. Seventy percent of those physicians are still practicing in Georgia at the University Of Georgia College Of Pharmacy's Southwest Georgia Clinical Campus. Phoebe also works closely with area colleges and provides real-world clinical training for nursing, physical therapy and other students.

Committed to the highest levels of excellence in providing healthcare and health-related services, Phoebe offers citizens access to quality care close to home while continually reinvesting in prevention, education and research that goes beyond the bounds of traditional medicine.

Additionally, PPMH includes Phoebe Sumter Medical Center, a 76-bed community hospital in Americus, Georgia, and Phoebe Worth Medical Center, a 25-bed critical access hospital located in Sylvester, Georgia. The health system also manages Southwest Georgia Regional Medical Center, which is a 25-bed critical access hospital in Cuthbert, Georgia.

OUR MISSION

Operation Homefront provides emergency financial and other assistance to the families of our service members and wounded warriors.

- Operation Homefront leads more than 2,500 volunteers with nationwide presence who provide emergency and other financial assistance to the families of service members and wounded warriors.
- The financial assistance we provide to military families is in the form of grants, not loans, paid directly to service providers for needs like car and home repairs, utilities, and rent or mortgage payments.
- Our morale programs are based on making life easier for military families with tangible support that demonstrates that the American people care about their struggles.
